FAMILY MEDICINE

Family Medicine is the medical specialty that provides continuing and comprehensive primary health care for the individual and family. Family Medicine integrates the biological, clinical and behavioral sciences and its scope encompasses all ages, all genders, each organ system and every disease entity.

FAMILY PHYSICIANS

- Can diagnose and treat 85% of all ailments
- Coordinate the best possible care when other specialists are needed, including the consultants, health services and community resources.

The AAFP and MDAFP require Active members to complete 150 hours of approved continuing medical education every three calendar years to maintain their membership status.
